NOTHING
BUT CLASS

Nothing but Class

Howe has nothing but class because students, faculty, and staff strive to give it quality, dignity, grace, and elegance. Pride in the excellence of academics, sports, activities, relationships, behavior, and such of one's school creates the qualities needed for class.

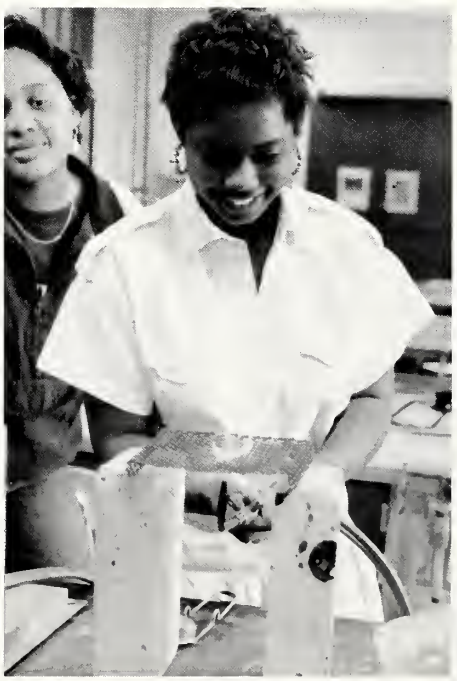

Students at Howe find pride in their graduating class and grade-level classes, often forming school spirit from this loyalty. Each wants to look back on his school years with pride; reaching for class allows this possibility. To do well what one does, to create a class act, takes hard work, dedication, and respect. Student attitudes form a nucleus for producing this class. Students, faculty, and staff together have created an atmosphere for Howe's first-rate standing.

Winning is not the only means of achieving pride. The best can be developed by the effort put into a project — when one says, "I did the best I could." Those associated with Howe support this principle and, consequently, give to the community a school with nothing but class.

Student
Life

Top: Mr. James Komann shows a student the proper way to draw an assignment. Patrick Armour carefully continues his work.

Art

The Thomas Carr Howe High School Art Department provides students the opportunity to develop and improve their skills in drawing, painting, sculpting, and printmaking through course work in the general art classes. In addition students may engage in activities in jewelry making, ceramics, and craft design. Those students interested in the study of art as it relates to history and the creativity of mankind take art appreciation.

Barry Patrick

Above: April Eland polishes the jewelry that she made in her class.

Business

The Business Education Department started the fall with six teachers and an enrollment of 694 students in business classes.

Switching classes to a year-long schedule has brought Howe students some exciting new opportunities in business. The department now offers a second semester of Business Law, a new integrated Business Principles class, and a second semester of Business Computer Applications.

The department has added twenty-one new computers and a vast array of software to push Business Education to the forefront of the trend toward Tech Prep.

Along with Tech Prep, the Business Department has its two senior classes of Cooperative Office Education (COE) and Marketing Education (ME) which place their best students into the community in a school-business relationship.

Teachers of business look forward to having all Howe students enroll in Business Education.

Right: Kateacha Brantley glances back to see what she has missed.

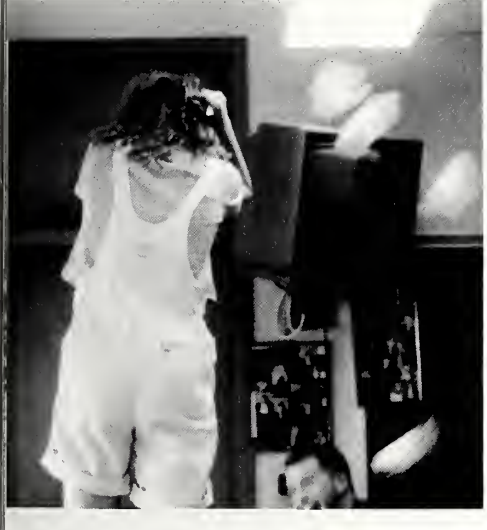

English

The English Department has an innovative program this year in Tech Prep, an English class blocked with an industrial arts class, where students are learning to relate to real-life working situations. Other specialty classes continue such as Humanities, Etymology, Speech, Journalism, American Studies—English and U.S. history combined—Advanced Placement, and College Bound, for example.

The department involves itself in many activities — the senior-sponsored play, the National Council of Teachers of English Writing Contest, the literary magazine, the yearbook, the newspaper, the Academic Bowl, the Super Bowl, the Success Track classes, public relations, school improvement, and many contests and field trips related to the study of language arts.

The goal of English teachers remains — to make students the best they can be no matter what aspect of English they attempt.

Below: Bill Wallace tries to concentrate on the task at hand while Marc Roland and Greg Atchley observe the teacher.

Foreign Language

"More students are enrolled in foreign language this year. This may indicate an increase in students' desire for cultural awareness and/or an increase in the number of college bound students," said Mrs. Jody George.

The foreign language students took many field trips to elementary schools and junior highs to culturally educate the students about foreign language.

Many students participated in the Indiana University contest. Any selected will visit the country of his language. Last year, as a finalist, Heather Hobbs spent seven weeks in France.

Top: Richard McClure, Linda Mills, and Jake Peters find that knowing English grammar helps in Latin.

Left: Tracy Moore learns that the sounds of French words are sometimes difficult as she listens in Mrs. Jody George's class.

Above: Mrs. Jody George listens to her French students as she insists they speak in French, not English.

Counselors

The 1992-93 school year began with some difficulties not faced for a while in this department. The school class-schedule had been changed from a seven period day to an eight period day. Counselors found themselves faced with finding another class for many students. Mini classes were dropped, and many students had scheduling conflicts.

The department once again shifted personnel in the Guidance Director's position. Mr. Bob Berry, former Director of Guidance, became acting Vice Principal, and Mr. David Smartz then became acting Director of Guidance.

The department continued to work on improved attendance, offering rewards when they were available to those with perfect attendance. The department worked with the mentor program to aid student academics and with the Student Assistance Program to help those with special problems. Always, counselors were working with parents and teachers to help students succeed.

Testing programs, Parents-in-Touch, and graduation exercises are some of the departments major projects. The innovative three-week interim class program was added as a major concern for counselors this year.

Above Middle: Mr. Frank Tout, former Principal and now Director of Secondary Schools, helps out with scheduling before he leaves Howe for his new downtown post.

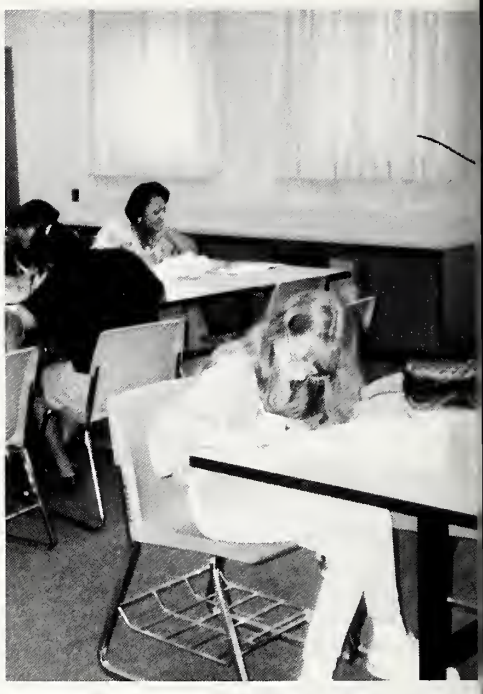

Above: It is difficult nowadays to find Mrs. Stella Vandivier when she is not disheveled from a harrelling day — though she still manages to smile and remain friendly.

Left: Mr. David Smartz, as the acting Director of Guidance this year, finds he has a few more papers to shuffle now in his new position.

Above: Mr. Bruce Moss, "cool", doesn't have time to take off his sunglasses before talking to a parent.

Home Economics

This year the Home Economics Department introduced new faces and ideas. Mrs. A. Johnson was a new addition to the staff.

The Home Economics Department looked forward to teaching play school, tailoring, entertaining, and catering.

Overall, the feelings in the Home Economics Department has been that everything was going great. They couldn't have better. The teachers and the students were appreciated.
Jeannie Stamps

Left: Christine Leach finds kneeding dough a difficult job. Maybe someday she will want a new machine that does the tough job for her.

Industrial Technology

Right: Dave Allen and the other members of the Industrial Technology class read about the use of machines in the shop. Safety first is stressed.

The Industrial Technology Department opened in '92-'93 school year excited about the changes being made at Howe.

One change experienced by the department was an increase in enrollment. This increase also made it possible to expand the staff. Mr. John DiVincenzo returned to Howe. He is currently teaching Drafting I and II, Graphic Communication, Electronic Communication, and Constructing Structures.

Additional course offerings are Manufacturing Materials and Processes, Manufacturing System, Construction Planning, Community Planning, Energy, Transportation, and Industrial Co-operative Training. All of these offer a wide variety of student activities. These activities provided the students with an opportunity to use skills needed for employment in the work force. Students also continue to develop skills learned in other classes at Howe.

The Industrial Technology Department continues to plan and upgrade its course offerings to prepare our students for the twenty-first century.
Dave Miller

Middle: Lam Do practices at the saw what he had been taught.

Math

The traditional math courses of the Math Department changed with an emphasis on projects and hands-on mathematics. New also in the department were the computers that all the teachers received for their classrooms. These were obtained through a grant and used to demonstrate new lessons, the solving of problems. They also gave the students hands-on experience with computers if they completed their assignments.

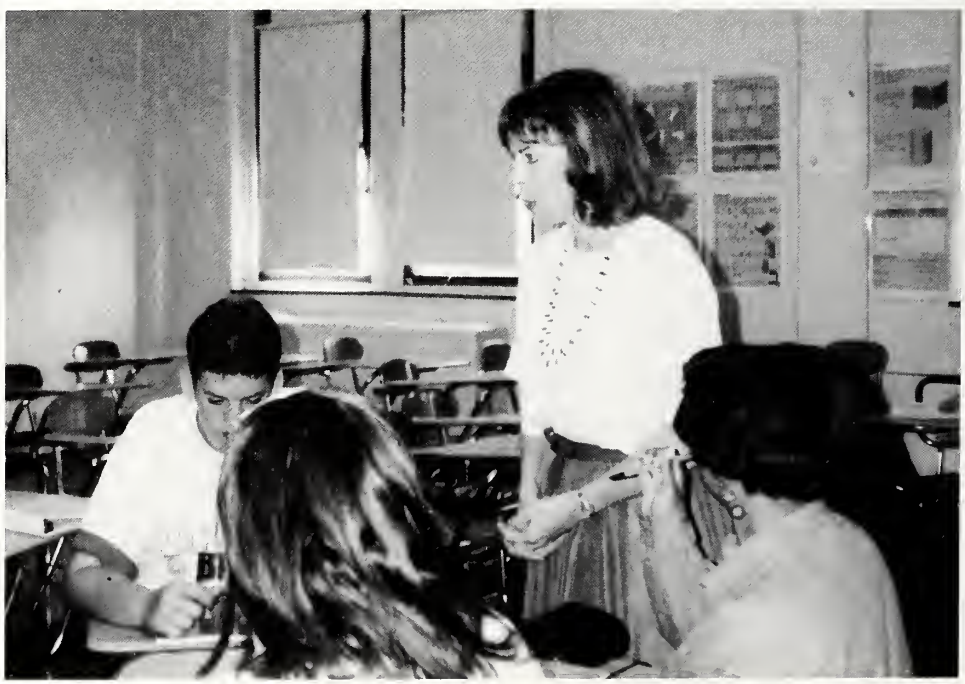

Geometry classes used group learning and a hands-on approach to discovering geometric concepts.

The Math Department sponsored the Academic Bowls. Last year, the Spell Bowl was third in its division. The Fine Arts Super Bowl Team came in first in the state.

In Math Club, Cindy Cradick, after majoring in bridge, taught the card game to members. The trips taken by club members and others were to Atlanta and St. Louis.

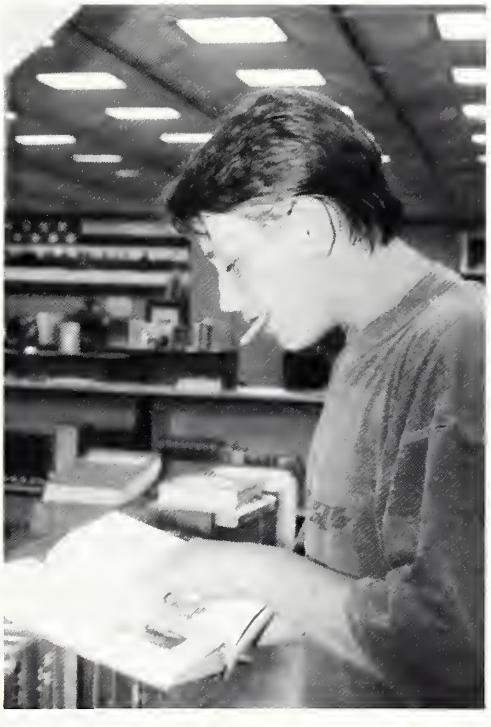

Top: Mr. V. Ellur's algebra class knows the importance of math in our society today; they are studying diligently. Amy Quiett, Allyson Kinney, and Jason Russo take figuring seriously.

Mrs. Martha Diggle not only teaches her geometry class but also shows the importance of team work.

Below: Mrs. Jo Leffler is always in the Media Center and willingly helps.

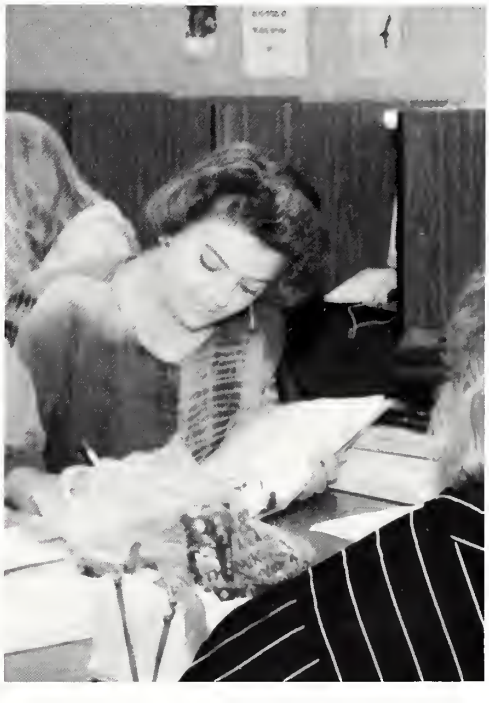

Middle: David Marks takes advantage of the reference material the library offers.
Right: Hahn Lee, aided by library assistant, Cindy Steele, is able to check out material for home or class use.

Media

This year, the Media Center received many innovations to help students further their learning. In addition to other informational materials, the Center added computer programs: the UMI which is an electronic READER'S GUIDE, the INFO TRACK which helped index and locate actual magazine articles, and the Screen Saver which kept materials from etching into the computer screen. To help with print-outs, the Media obtained the Laserwriter printer. This printer makes professional quality print. The most talked about item in the Media Center was the new, all-color Macintosh with the MICROSOFT WORD program. It made typing easier and more fun. The new fax machine added another dimension to the library.

Overall, the Media Center, with the leadership of Mrs. Jo Leffler and Mr. Irv Haas and with the addition of various products, improved technically and became more efficient.
Duane Sugimura

Physical Education

Below: Females can work at a predominately mal activity. Carrie McFarland works out in the weigh room.

The Physical Education Department emphasizes total fitness for life with daily routines in all classes which help the student progress and develop at his own rate. Fitness testing and skill testing are an integral part of preparing the student.

The basic Physical Education classes are designed so that the students experience various activities and games which develop the individual physically and socially.

Conditioning and Team Sports are select classes for those students who want to enhance their athletic abilities and fitness level.

The health classes are designed to inform the student about healthy life styles. Information from various sources are presented and studied to help the student form opinions about the life style best suited for each situation. A second semester of health has been added this year to the curriculum to include a more detailed study of drug education, family health, and communicable diseases.
Thomas Renie

"What? How?" and most importantly, "Why?" are questions that Howe science students try to answer every day in classes like anatomy, biology, chemistry, earth science, physical science, and physics. With the help of Mr. Buckley, Mr. Dressler, Mr. Edwards, Mrs. Keaton, Mr. Paul Miller, Mr. Smith, and Mr. Yarber, the students make edible cell models out of pizza or Jell-O, examine cat innards, ride skate boards, make soap and nylon, and take field trips as they learn more about their world and prepare themselves for the challenges and opportunities of the twenty-first century.

Social Studies

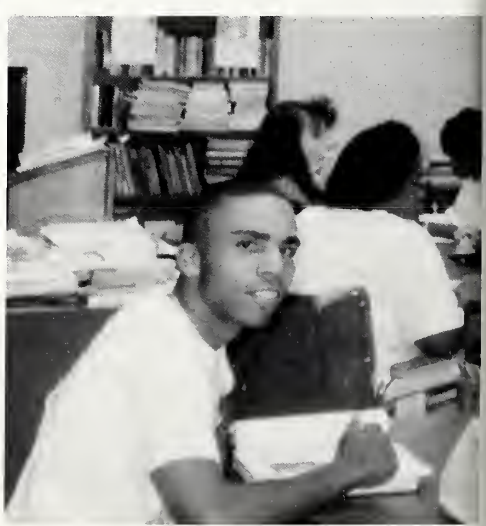

The Social Studies Department was alive and well in spite of being reduced in size to six full-time teachers. Mrs. John Ervin filled in for Vicki Martich who was on maternity leave. Ron Finkbiner and Pat Friedly were team teaching in American Studies. Errol Spears and Pat Aman were team teaching a course in Business Principles and government. Chuck McGinley moved to the top floor with his psychology and sociology courses. Dave Stewart continued his successful Applied Economics courses. Chuck Page got the freshmen off to a great start in world history.

The Social Studies Department finished a successful trip to London, England, and planned a spring trip to Austria. Finkbiner, Spears, and Stewart geared students for the spring advanced placement tests in government, U.S. history, and economics. The January mini-courses added excitement to students' programs with many out of building experiences in social studies related areas.

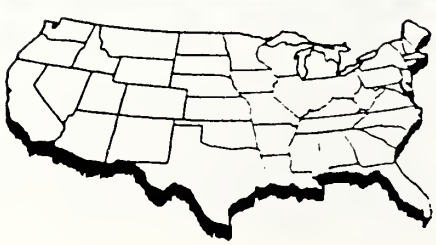

Amanda Kiefner returned to Howe after spending an exciting spring in Washington D.C. as a page to Andrew Jacobs, tenth district U.S. Congressman. Marcus Patterson won the Social Studies Award as the top AP history student. Mike Dwigans was elected governor of Howe in the Mock Political Elections. Kim Griffin, Shawn Moore, and Jayna Liford represented Howe in the Washington Close-Up program in the spring.

HOMECOMING

Homecoming started with "Spirit Week." Students participated by wearing designated clothing on each day of the week — Monday, crazy ties; Tuesday, sports; Wednesday, twins; Thursday, class colors; Friday, brown and gold. Lunch activities included several contests — Twinkie, Hula Hoop, and Jellybean contests.

Elections were many. Homecoming Queen was Serita Digbie; Homecoming King, Norman Ege; Mr. TCH, Derrick Richardson. The winners of the Jello Wrestling contest at the Pep Session were Kim Griffin and Billy Wallace.

Many participated in the Homecoming Parade — The Marching Hornets, the Swim Team, the Volleyball Team, the Mat Maids, the Golden Gals, the JROTC, the Cheerleaders, and such. The seniors entered the one and only float.

The Homecoming Game was a success. Howe beat Broad Ripple 34-21. All of this activity was topped off with a dance after the game, a winning celebration as it turned out.

Musically inclined students have many opportunities to show their true talents. This year's Music Department offerings consist of Concert Choir, Varsity Singers, Beginning Choir, Orchestra, and Band.

This year Mr. Bramblett has not been seen, nor the two classes, Gospel Choir and Choralaires. These losses in the department have helped cause the enrollment to drop drastically. But the department is keeping with its many traditions, such as, Pops Concert, Christmas Concert, Spring Concert, Contest, and, of course, this year's musical, CINDERELLA.

Musical

This year's musical is CINDERELLA, with Carrie Deeter as Cinderella, Andy Woodard as the Prince, Julie Thompson as the Queen, Rhett Lawmaster as the King, Amy Lee as the stepmother, Joanna Wright and Alisa Nicoson as the stepsisters, and Chrissy Coomer as the Fairy Godmother.

The classic fairy tale makes a wonderful romantic change for the Music Department this year even though it was difficult trying to make the audience see the simple housemaid become a stunning beauty.

All the hard work and effort was well worth it as the curtain rose and the audience watched their childhood story come true.

Leadership, honor . . .

Junior Reserve Officer Training Corps is an elective course designed to promote citizenship and stimulate high school students to stay in school and graduate. Through its curriculum and extra-curricular activities, the program prepares students for responsibilities and privileges as American citizens. Students learn the principles of leadership, management, and human relations in the classroom and then apply this knowledge in practical exercises as they interact in leader and follower roles. The program is structured along military lines to encourage discipline, self-esteem, and pride in the organization.

Howe's JROTC program provides students with the opportunity to participate in a number of extra-curricular activities. Among these are Color Guard, Rifle Team, and Drill Team. The JROTC Color Guard presents the colors at all home football and basketball games and other school and community functions.

Tower

This year the Howe TOWER has seen the addition of many new faces.

The use of two separate staffs helped to get the paper out every week. Two staffs also created a variety of front page appearances with different banners for the paper as well as different styles of stories.

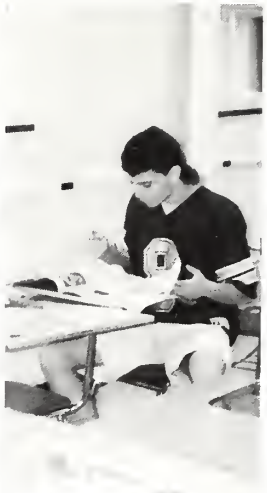

Heather Lockhart and Dora Noe were chief editors. Stacy Allen and Angie Humphery were news editors. Brandy Freeman and Kari Childers were feature editors. Angie Petree and Karec Jones were sports editors. Brian Slayton with the assistance of Darrin Terry was the printer.

This year the Tower staff also received a new advisor, Miss Shirley Smith, but many already knew her as an old friend. Miss Smith stated that she is pleased that several editors and reporters will be back next year and she hates losing the seniors who have done a fine job this year.

Track

The 91-92 Track season was a success for the Howe Hornets. Howe was ranked number two in both IPSAC and City. Howe had Damon Turner, David Mathis, Chris Oliver, Damon Bryant, Dave Porter, and Garry Smith go on to the Sectionals. Garry Smith (SP), Brian Patterson (4 x 400), Chris Oliver (4 x 400) David Mathis (HH), Damon Tandy (4 x 400, LJ), and Damon Bryant (400, 4 x 400) went on to Regionals. David Mathis (HH) and Garry Smith (SP) went on to State. David Mathis won State with a record time of 13.8 seconds in the high hurdles.
Damon Bryant
Girls Track:

The spring track meets were not as successful as most of the girls would have liked, for it was a rebuilding year. Many of the girls had never run track before, and many were freshmen. Since so many were in their first year of high school, it means there will be quite a few years left for them to improve. The girls were truly hard workers and do expect a better year next year. Nadine Oakley was one who excelled this year, winning the IPSAC in the shot putt.

The 1992 Hornet Baseball Squad found success in their Sectionals this year. The team made it to the second round and faced Decatur Central. J.R. Redmon and Eric Abner were co-captains for the team. Other key members of the team were Aaron Sparks, Randy Wilson, Billy Wallace, and Chris Wilson. Freshman pitcher William Malone got the call to Varsity on more than a few occasions to help bolster the pitching staff. The team was again led by the excellent coaching staff of Tom Renie, Mike Hepler, and Mike Johnson.

Girls Tennis

The Girls Tennis Team did not do as well as it had hoped. There was a shortage of players. But, overall, the players who did play were outstanding. The doubles team was great. Seniors, Christa Huntsinger and Kim Mertz, took first place in the City's Doubles Contest. The team captains were Kim Mertz and Christa Huntsinger; the coaches, Dave Stewart and Jennifer McNally.

Left: Members of the opposing teams have learned to duck when Mike Tiernan hits the ball because his club usually follows it.

Boys Golf

The 1992 Golf Team recorded 3-12 win-losses. The Most Valuable Player title was given to Jeremy Stewart. The Best Mental Attitude recipient was Tom Morgan. Darin Carnes was named the Most Improved Player. As a whole, the Golf Team had a good year. Maybe the wind will be at the backs of their shots more often next year, giving them more luck than the Irish.

Right: Crystal Morelock does a "jog" off third.

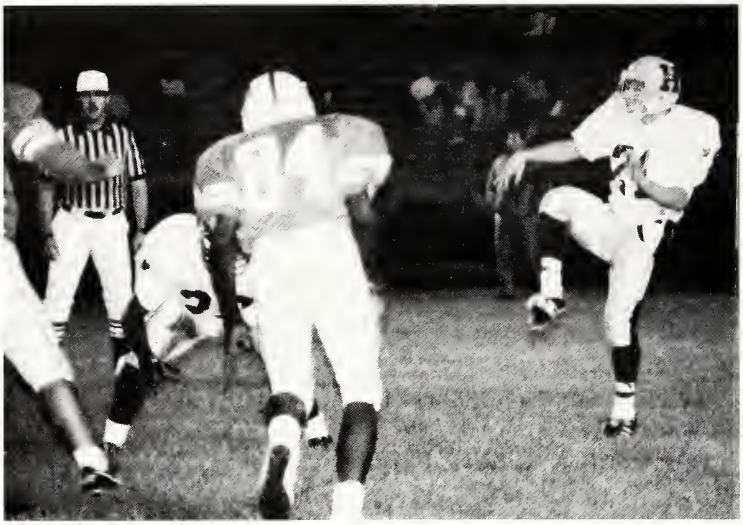

For the 1992 season, the girls softball program finished with a successful record, and they lost only two seniors. This year's '93 team should be even better. The squad featured the power hitting of Lisa Baker who found the fence on more than a few occasions. Freshman, Crystal Morelock, hit the ball as well as fielded it. Sophomore pitcher, Heather Tolin, was the team's ace pitcher, and senior, Missy Deem, played solid outfield and hit the ball well. This year's squad should be a well-balanced one with better pitching.
Jeff Redmon

Above Left: Lisa Baker might find it easier to catch the ball if she were to keep her eyes open. Well, maybe her eyes are just down as she follows a "grounder."

Football

The Football Team's season goals were high according to Coach Bill Smith. The team had twenty-three seniors, twenty of whom had been on the team for four years. Coach Smith also stated that the team was excellent over all in speed and skill as well as the kicking game. With the experience on this team it was as complete and experienced a team as we have ever had Smith went on to say.

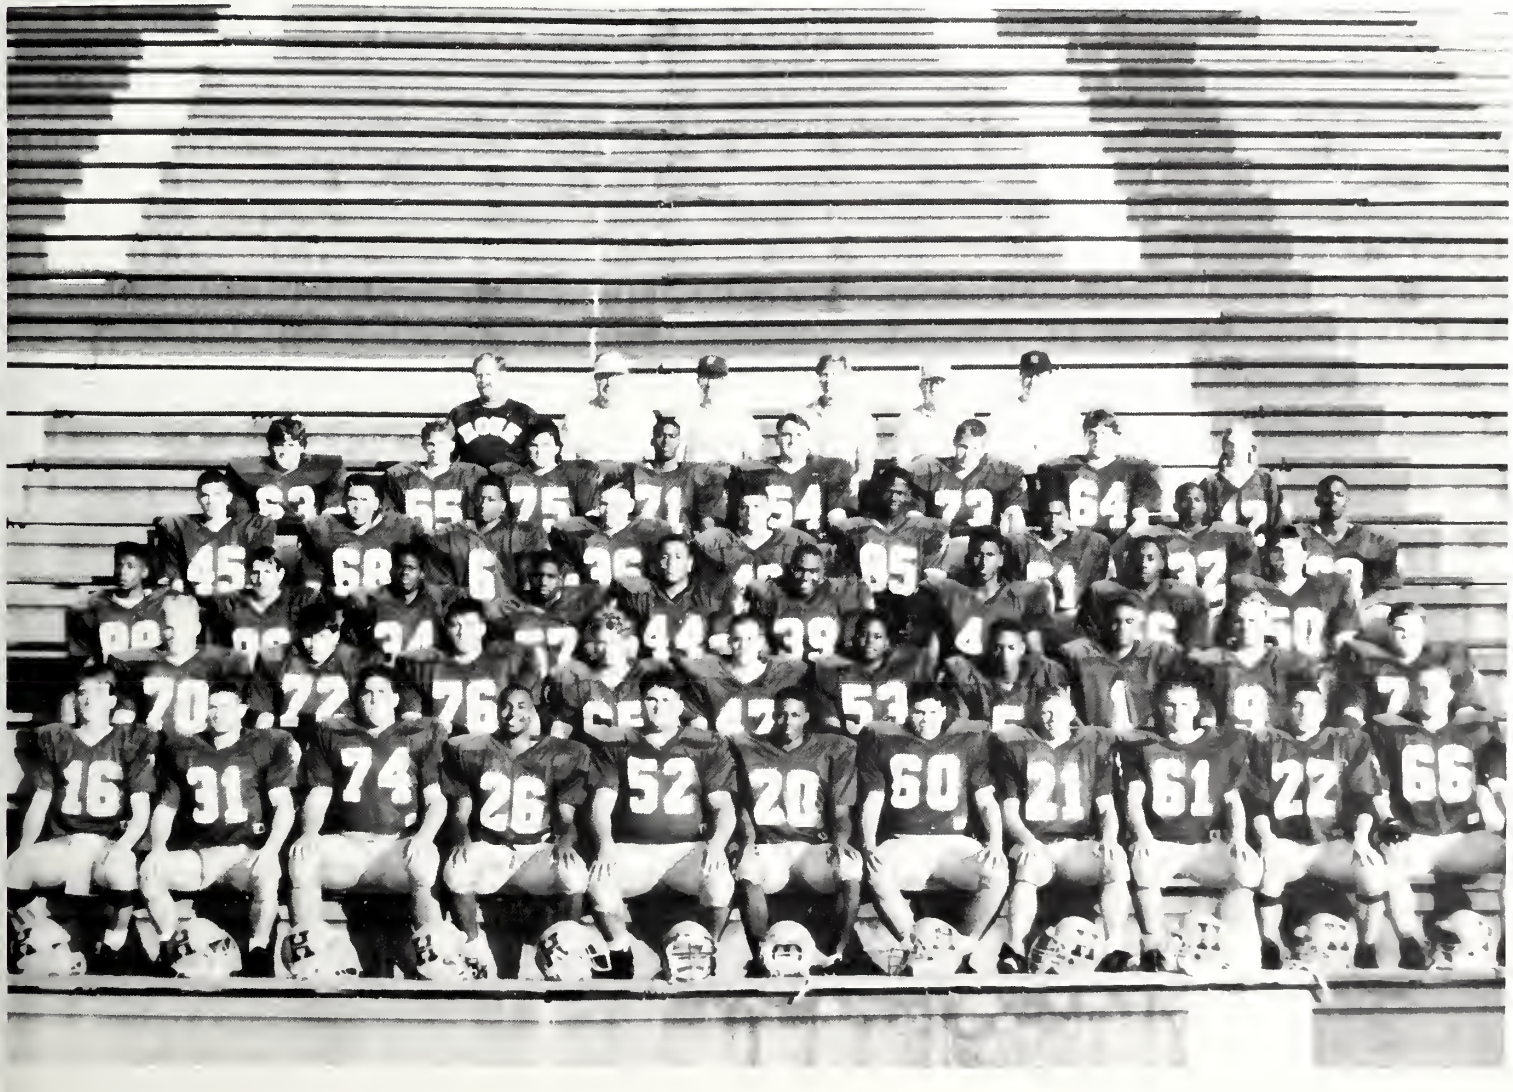

The team was led by captains, Bill Wallace and Dave Mathis. Howe's team brought home a victory from the City games as well as the Homecoming game with Broad Ripple. The team became a "Team of the Week" for one television program. The first Sectional game with Arlington was won, but disappointment came when such a fine team lost the second Sectional game to Franklin.

Bump, set, spike! The Lady Hornets Volleyball Team began playing informally during open gym in June with competition beginning in August. Beginning with a victory over Northwest, the team has had a challenging season.

The innovations of the 1992 season have been the use of the newly renovated north gym and the new volleyball equipment donated by the 400 Club. Many incoming freshmen players joined our teams and a "return to Howe" was made by alumnus Brian Hawkins as assistant coach.

Soccer

Ryan Dammeyer and Mike Tiernan led the soccer team this year as captains. The team won a few and lost a few.

Ryan suggested one of the difficult aspects the team faces is the opposition they play against, Carmel and Lawrence North for example. Many of the other teams Howe plays, he said, have been playing together since they were kids.

The team wished that more fans had supported the games. Howe will need more players and more fans to keep the spirit alive next year. It is doubtful Coach Moore would refuse the aid.

Top Left: When not on the field for soccer, Mike Dea participates in vocal music and academics.

This year's golf season was a big success. We had a tough season, but we came out first at IPSAC, third at City, and eighth at Sectionals. Everyone improved one hundred percent from last year and set a lot of new team and personal records. I, especially, had the most fun this season and wish the girls the best next year.
Tanika Price

Awarded at the Fall Sports Banquet were Alisa Nicoson for Mental Attitude, Tanika Price for Most Valuable Player, and Alisa Nicoson and Shannon Rowlett for Most Dedicated players.

This year, the Boys Tennis Team acquired a lot of new faces. With the addition of Branden Raymer, Donald Engle, Terrell Garnett, and Tony Gray, the team solidified its talents. Though the team posted a record of two wins and thirteen losses, the play of Branden Raymer in the City Tournament, Brandon Spratt and Tony Gray in the IPSAC Tournament, and the overall performances of Brad Lawmaster and Justin Morris showed the true spirit of the tennis team. To put the season in perspective, Coach Hepler stated, "We were an inexperienced team. That really hurt us against better teams. The players stayed tough through the season in spite of setbacks in many tight situations."
Duane Sugimura

Honors: Terrell Garnett, Mental Attitude; Brad Lawmaster, Most Valuable Player; and Donald Engle, Most Improved.

Girls Swimming

One of the special aspects of this year for the Girls Swimming Team was the Swim-a-Thon. Laura McBurnie, Hollie Bays, Heather Taylor, Trisha Wilson, Shannon Hunter, Amanda Young, Leafy Dunnam, and Carrie Hubbard swam to raise money for the Hurricane Andrew victims. The girls raised over $700.

The captains of this year's team were Heather Taylor and Laura McBurnie. The team was thought to be better than last year's. The freshmen did well. Leafy Dunnam and Heather Taylor were outstanding. Hollie Bays and Amanda Young were successful divers. The team had two IPSAC winners, Hollie Bays and Laura McBurnie.

Awarded on the team were Heather Taylor for Mental Attitude, Laura McBurnie for Most Valuable Player, and Hollie Bays and Trisha Wilson for Most Improved.

Ahmed Mays left his mark coming in first at the Cross Country's first meet. Howe lost to Washington as a team, however.

Many runners used Cross Country as a conditioning technique as well as a sport. Practices were held daily.

The boys were coached by Martin Sam who came from School #28 each evening to help Howe students.

Damon Bryant was given the Most Valuable Player honor, and Jason Sparks, the Mental Attitude award.

Sean Marcum assisted the girls with their running strategies as coach. Awarded on his team were Carrie McFarland for Mental Attitude, Amanda Young for Most Valuable Player, and Cassie Weidner for Iron Woman.

Being a Golden Gal is one of the best experiences that a girl can have at Howe. Working closely with the football players on and off the field builds lasting friendships throughout the year. Golden Gals run the freshmen and reserve games on Monday and also aid with water, stats, programs, and a variety of odd jobs for the varsity team on Friday nights. The Golden Gals boost school spirit by making locker posters, signs, and by distributing the GRIDIRON newsletter. As a Golden Gal, you develop a bond with the other girls that makes all the time and hard work worth while.

Basketball

This year's varsity team had five returning varsity players, Emerson Petty, Tyrone O'Neal, Herman Andrews, Daryl Smith, and Marvin McGregor who led the Hornets in scoring and rebounding for the season. Unfortunately, several valuable players were lost. Because the team was building and had many young, inexperienced players, the varsity team had a difficult time winning. More leadership and discipline will be necessary for the team to do better next year. Control on the floor and better chemistry among the players, also, will be necessary for improvement.

Howe's

Lady

Hornets

This year's Girls Varsity Basketball Team had more girls try out than any other year. Charles Page, the coach, says he sees an upswing in girls' participation in sports. Although the record of the team doesn't show it, the team is full of talent. Crystal Morelock was named Athlete of the Week by Channel 13 in the second week of the season, and Michelle Hurns was second in rebounding in the City. The team is still young with one freshman and two sophomores starting and no seniors. Next year's team should have more experience and turn their level of play up a few notches. With only three seniors leaving, next year should be the Lady Hornets' year.

This year's season was outstanding. We had some great talent on our team. This year's Freshmen really showed some enthusiasm. Our team captains were Seniors Marc Roland and Shawn Moore; the other Varsity squad wrestlers were Juniors Om Desai, Jeff Parrish, and Charles Anderson. Sophomores Antonio Moore, Jason Carrell, Grant McDonald, Josh Morey, Doug Simms, Charlie Adams, and Scott Wessel. The team's dual record this year has been better than the past four years. It was 9-6-1.

Marc Roland, Shawn Moore, and Scott Wessel were Sectional Champions. Om Desai won a second place in Sectionals. All four went on to Regionals. Regionals were unfortunate for Om Desai, Scott Wessel, and Charlie Adams who was a last minute entry. Shawn Moore took home first place; and Marc Roland, third. Both Shawn and Marc went on to Semi-State and State.

The cheerleaders have worked very hard this year. They have had candy sales and car washes. All went to cheer camp together. This year, being a winning season, has been a good year for the cheerleaders; they loved the crowds.

Captains of the squads were Varsity, Heather Sommers and Kisha Tandy; Reserves, Tashia Guynn; and Freshmen, Anne Burford. The freshmen team was selected during the first week of school.

The girls feel they owe a great deal to the sponsors, Ms. Terese Calhan and Ms. Sommers.

Basketball Cheerleaders/High Steppers

The Basketball Cheerleaders at Howe are very unique in their own way. It is they who work hard to create good school spirit. Sponsored by Therese Calhan, these girls practice often to perfect their routines. The captains of this year's Basketball Cheerleaders are Kisha Tandy, Varsity; Lorita Hill, Junior Varsity; and Annie Burford, Freshmen.

Equally as dedicated to raising school spirit are the High Steppers who march and dance with the band at football and basketball games. Membership of this group included Shannon Hart, Kimberly Bryant, Medora Bills, Karec Jones, Trisha Rafferty, Danielle Davidson, and Misty Plew.

Teenagers and adults who saw this production could certainly understand the trials of teenage life as portrayed by the dedicated cast of Dear High School.

English teacher, Greg Shelton, was director of this year's humorous production.

Hilltopper

The HILLTOPPER staff is one of the most important student staffs here at Howe. Without this staff, there would be no yearbook for us to reminisce through years later.

Not only is it an important staff, but also a fun, learning experience. We do many fun things such as taking pictures of people least expecting it, passing out pictures, and many more exciting things.

We lost a lot of our staff, but among the returning are Natalie Mertz, Om Desai, Brenda Raney, and Brian Slayton who will receive letters for their two-years' service. Our new faces are Darlyce Benifield, Damon Bryant, Kelly Ducking, Amy Lawson, Sarah May, Marvin McGregor, Jasmine Potts, Jeannie Stamps, Tara Turnipseed, Joe Wayt, Trixie Whobrey, and Adam Wright. Returning for the beginning of their second year are Dave Butler, Duane Sugimura, Tammy Comstock, and Chris Nelson.

This is a different year because we have had two Editors, Melissa Terry and Tonya Smith. We also have two Junior Editors, Natalie Mertz and Brenda Raney. We hope these double responsibilities will make the book twice as interesting for you to read.

Brenda Raney

Top: Tonya Smith, Tara Turnipseed, and Brian Slayton work on bulletins for the HILLTOPPER.
Right: Trixie Whobrey and Jeannie Stamps look anxiously while listening to directions.
